YOUR FUTURE

At Preston Rowe Paterson, we offer more than just a job—we offer a career path. As a graduate, you'll be supported to become a highly skilled property valuer, analyst, and asset professional, recognised across local, national, and global markets.

Your development will be guided by experienced professionals, real-world projects, and a culture of learning. With us, your future is built on strong foundations—skills, experience, and the confidence to lead in the property and real estate services industry.

Your Mission Matters

We're looking for graduates who bring their best attitude to the table—those who are proactive, professional, and aligned with our core values. At Preston Rowe Paterson Sydney, we value people who are committed to learning, collaboration, and growth. If you're ready to take ownership of your development and contribute meaningfully, we'll provide the opportunities and support to help you thrive.

OUR CULTURE

Our culture is built on the foundations of hard work, dedication, and integrity. We act with professional and ethical discipline, value collaboration, and support one another to achieve shared success.

We believe that doing great work goes hand in hand with enjoying where you work. That's why we foster a positive, social, and inclusive environment—where professional growth and personal connection go hand in hand.

Graduate Property Valuer Joshua Naumoff

Started August 2014

Joshua joined Preston Rowe Paterson Sydney in 2014 as a graduate from Western Sydney University, eager to build a career in the property sector.

He began his journey with a strong interest in residential property valuation, earning his CPV qualification under the guidance and mentorship of our senior leadership team.

As his confidence and experience grew, Joshua developed a keen interest in commercial valuation. Under the continued guidance of the company’s directors, he undertook extensive training across a broad spectrum of asset types. This rigorous development allowed him to successfully transition into the commercial space, where he has since built a versatile portfolio.

Today, Joshua specialises in an array of property sectors including industrial, retail, office, residential development, asset valuations, advisory services, and prestige residential properties. His expertise and leadership were recognised with his promotion to Associate Director, a role in which he now helps guide and mentor the next generation of valuers.

Associate Director Joshua Naumoff

Present Day

“Starting as a graduate, I always felt supported and challenged at Preston Rowe Paterson. The mentorship I received was instrumental in helping me build my skillset and transition into commercial work. There’s a real culture of continuous learning here—and the opportunity to grow into leadership has been one of the most rewarding parts of my career.”

— Joshua, Associate Director

Joshua’s journey reflects the core values of Preston Rowe Paterson—integrity, collaboration, and professional growth—and serves as a great example of what’s possible for graduates ready to take the next step and build a successful career in property valuation.

We have property covered.
